

Cookie Policy

BE MATE COMMUNITY ESPAÑA, S.A.

Corporate Website

The content of this Cookie Policy is as follows:

1. What is a cookie?
2. Why do we use cookies on this website?
- 3 How can I configure or disable the installation of cookies from this website?
4. What kinds of cookies does this website use?

1. WHAT IS A COOKIE?

A cookie is a file downloaded to your computer, smartphone, tablet, or any other electronic device when you visit certain websites. Cookies are necessary to facilitate browsing and improve your experience using this website.

The purpose of this Policy is to help you understand how we use cookies on this website, their duration, and their purpose, as well as the options you have to administrate them and even disable them.

2. WHY DOES THIS WEBSITE USE COOKIES?

The cookies that we use facilitate your use and browsing of our website and help us improve the quality of our website. They also allow us to store and recover data about your browsing (and that of any device) and find out your browsing habits or those of any other user.

If you'd like to learn more about cookies, we invite you to see the "Guide to Cookie Usage" published by the Spanish Data Protection Agency: https://www.agpd.es/portalwebAGPD/canaldocumentacion/publicaciones/common/Guias/Guia_Cookies.pdf

3. HOW CAN I CONFIGURE, DISABLE, OR REMOVE COOKIES?

You can accept or reject cookies being installed when installing or updating your browser. You can even choose to reject certain cookies and there is an option for you to be notified each time you receive a cookie. You can also disable cookies entirely. Disabling cookies can cause you to no longer be able to use some of the functionalities of the website, as specified in this table.

You can clear all or some of the cookies you have saved by configuring your browser.

Although the configuration of these options differs from browser to browser, it is common for the cookie configuration to be under the "Options" or "Settings" menu of your browser. You can find more detailed information about how to configure cookies on your browser by checking the "Help" menu.

Similarly, you can enable two kinds of browsing: private browsing, in which your browser does not save your history, passwords, or information from the websites you visit; or you can activate the non-tracking function which will allow you to prevent the browser from tracking your browsing habits.

If you'd like to learn more about behavioral advertising and stopping the installation of other third-party cookies related to this kind of advertising, click here: <http://www.youronlinechoices.com/uk/>

4. WHAT KINDS OF COOKIES ARE THERE AND HOW DOES THIS WEBSITE USE THEM?

Depending on the purpose for which the data obtained by the cookies is processed, the following types of cookies are used on this site:

- 1) Technical cookies: These cookies allow you to browse this website and use the different options or services available on it, such as traffic control and data communication, session identification, etc.
- 2) Personalization cookies: These cookies make it possible for you to access the services we provide on this website with some of the general predefined characteristics based on a number of criteria that are set by your device such as language selection, type of browser you are using the site with, regional configuration from which you're accessing the service, etc.
- 3) Analytics cookies: These cookies allow us to monitor and analyze your behavior and that of other users on this website. We use the information gathered by these cookies to measure the activity on this website and to create browsing profiles for the website's users so as to improve service.
- 4) Advertising cookies: These are cookies that are processed either by us or by third parties and allow us to efficiently manage the supply of advertising space on the website, by adapting the content of the ad to the service requested or the use of our website. Cookies make it possible for us to learn about your Internet browsing habits and show you ads related to your browsing profile.

If you'd like more specific and complete information about all the cookies we use on this website, their purpose, duration, and whether they are first- or third-party cookies, please click here.